Freedom of the Will:
Of Commands, Motives, & Ability

Part III. Wherein Is Inquired, whether Any Such Liberty of Will as Arminians Hold, Be Necessary to Moral Agency, Virtue and Vice, Praise and Dispraise, etc. — Sections 4-7

27 July 2003

http://www.logicteacher.com/fotw/

1. Review of previous 6 weeks

2. Commands and obligation to obey are consistent with moral inability to obey.

   a. Proposition 1:

   b. Proposition 2:

   c. Proposition 3:

   d. These propositions, along with others stated elsewhere, lead to the conclusion:

3. Sincerity does not excuse failure to obey.

Assignments: (1) Read Part IV, Sections 1-4; (2) Read Romans 8-11; (3) ask 5 people to define "free will"